

Sprout CoWorking renovates, expands footprint at Rising Sun Mills

By Cassius Shuman -June 26, 2020 2:38 am

EXPANDED OPERATION: Sprout CoWorking has revamped its Providence office space, expanding 25% to add more room to its operation. / COURTESY SPROUT COWORKING LLC

Building owner: Armory Revival Co.

Tenant: Sprout CoWorking LLC

The new entrance to the Sprout CoWorking facility on Valley Street in Providence. / COURTESY SPROUT COWORKING LLC

Architectural firm: Armory Management Co.

Developer/General contractor: Armory Management Co./Timothy Viveiros, project manager

Cost: Not disclosed – no public funds used

PRIVATE OFFICE: One of the five private offices added as part of the expansion. / COURTESY SPROUT COWORKING LLC

Use: Sprout CoWorking LLC, a meeting space business, renovated and expanded its footprint this spring by 25%, extending its existing office, meeting and event areas on the Rising Sun Mills campus on Valley Street in Providence by 12,000 square feet. The newly renovated space adds five private offices and a large meeting/training room. This is the company's third expansion since opening in 2016. The company doubled its space in early 2018 to include more work areas, as well as adding a high-quality event venue, opening the door to larger-scale community partnerships that include art and fashion shows, political town halls, professional workshops, panel discussions and Providence's Gallery Night tours. The venue offers free, secure off-street parking, reception staff and other on-site amenities.

OPEN SEATING: The new 1,500-square-foot post-industrial-style open-seating event space features high ceilings and eight large windows with plenty of natural light. / COURTESY SPROUT COWORKING LLC

Sprout CoWorking before / COURTESY SPROUT COWORKING LLC